

Feel Good Brew

DRINKS Vancouver-based Doi Chaang Coffee Company takes its name from the small village in Thailand where the beans are grown, then bought at fair-trade prices. The beans are roasted in Alberta, with half of the coffee's eventual profits dedicated back to the village's sustainable co-op initiatives. Renowned coffee reviewer Kenneth Davids called the Peaberry blend "a pure, refreshing coffee." We say that a cup of joe grown by happy workers tastes that much sweeter.—Emma Ruthnum
